

Awareness Lecture on Pediatric Cancer

The student work united, represented by the cultural and social activities and the social responsibility unit at the College of Applied Medical Sciences, under the supervision of Dr. Attiyat Muhammad Hassan, organized an event under the title "Awareness Lecture on Childhood Cancer" on Tuesday, 10/8/1445 AH at 12 pm at the college theater, presented by Dr. Atiyat Muhammad Hassan (Professor of pediatric Health Nursing at the Faculty). The event aimed to raise health awareness of childhood tumors and to express support for children and adolescents with cancer, survivors and their families. The lecture dealt with: providing an overview of cancer and childhood cancer, clarifying the concept of childhood cancer, presenting the facts, rates of incidence and problem of childhood cancer globally and inside the Kingdom, discussing the types of cancer in children, listing the causes, knowing the symptoms and diagnosis, clarifying complications and treatment for childhood cancer, discussing ways to prevent childhood cancer and clarifying early detection as the best prevention. The event was well received by the attendees. Ms. Rajsa Mardi (Social Club Coordinator) participated in the coordination of the event.