

Orientation program for the training year for internship students

The Field Training and Internship Unit at the College of Applied Medical Sciences in Wadi Al-Dawasir organized an orientation program for students expected to graduate for the second semester 1445 in the Department of Nursing Sciences on Tuesday, 13/2/2023 corresponding to 3/8/1445 AH in Hall B2-8 of the college at twelve o'clock in the afternoon under the title: "Orientation Program for Internship Students". Under the supervision of Dr. Attiyat Mohamed Hassan (Coordinator of the Internship Unit at the Faculty).

The orientation program aimed to familiarize the students expected to graduate with the objectives of the training year and training requirements and to respond to all inquiries related to the training year. The field training guide was presented and discussed, and the most important things that were discussed were: the tasks, responsibilities and rights of the trainee student, the conditions for joining the internship year, the accredited bodies for training and penalties, the conditions for transfer during the internship year, the papers submitted to join the internship year, the stages of follow-up, guidance and evaluation, the system of leave and absence during the training period, the mechanism for the trainee student to obtain leave, the conditions for passing the training year, and the conditions for delay. The clinical skills achievement booklet, training sections, schedules and filling out training forms were also presented. Clarifying the methods and mechanism of evaluation, and receiving and responding to questions and inquiries. Ms. Asmaa Al-Dosari (Unit Secretary) participated in the coordination of the program. The program was welcomed by the students.